

Work Securely and Productively From Home with NetDocuments

We are committed to helping attorneys and legal departments work from anywhere on the globe, just as they would in the office. Here's what some of our customers have been saying as we have all had to shift to working remote nearly overnight.

"Our firm strategy has always been the virtual office. From a document management perspective, NetDocuments has always been a part of that strategy. As a result, our firm's transition to work-from-home has been seamless. We have over 850 people working remotely and the NetDocuments platform has allowed us to continue to work in a collaborative fashion between ourselves and our firm's clients without missing a beat."

"Luckily for us, NetDocuments has been working as expected. And we were given the proper resources to outfit our entire firm with new equipment that allowed us to turn the firm into a WFH dream, all the while answering the questions on HIPAA, PII, and other security considerations. Even if our building was to burn down today, we wouldn't miss a beat, which is great from a DPR and BC point of view."

"Disregard of all the madness of COVID-19, I think this is actually an effective way for our users to realize the value of NetDocuments, able access their documents from anywhere without having to worry about accessing the Share-drive."

Tin Le | Manager, Financial and Information Systems | BBAM

"Thanks to our adoption of NetDocuments as we modernized our operations, the transition to remote work has been seamless for the attorneys and staff of Kalijarvi, Chuzi, Newman & Fitch, P.C. Their document management platform makes it easy to locate documents quickly, collaborate with colleagues, and securely share work with clients no matter where our teams are or what is happening in the world. Overall, the NetDocuments platform has enabled our teams to continue work just as we would in the office - helping us protect our clients from any disruption in the delivery of our services."

"In light of the circumstances with COVID-19 we closed our physical office but remain in operation. All of our staff is working from home, and we are able to save files, collaborate with clients, and create documents seamlessly because of NetDocuments. A big part of our success in working from home and having a competitive edge, even in this time, is NetDocuments. We are even keeping ourselves better organized and still sending out record books with SetBuilder."
